The fourth lecture of academic year 2023 of the InterAgency Brown-Bag Lecture Series, co-hosted by the U.S. Army Command and General Staff School and the Simons Center for Interagency Cooperation, features Mr. Larry A. Hisle, executive director of the Greater Kansas City Federal Executive Board. Hisle will lead a discussion on the roles and missions of the Federal Executive Board and how it serves as a catalyst for communication, coordination and collaboration among the various federal agencies with offices in the Kansas City metropolitan area.

Larry A. Hisle has served as the executive director of the Greater Kansas City Federal Executive Board since 2013.

Hisle holds a bachelor's degree in Business Administration from Thomas Edison State University. He has previously served as a program manager in the U.S. Office of Personnel Management.

Hisle is very active in the community volunteering with youth sports teams and scouting activities as well as serving on the board of directors of the Sherwood Center for the Exceptional Child and on the advisory council of the KCK Area Technical School.

All lectures in this series are free and open to the public.
Attendees are welcome to bring their own lunches into the conference room for the presentation.
